Thousands In Stolen Securities Are Traced

CHICAGO, August 31.—Stolen securities of the United States Sugar Manufacturers' Association of New York, valued at thousands of dollars, have been traced to the French-Worthington group of alleged swindlers, according to Henry R. Bollag, president of the association, who is here today conferring with John V. Clinch, assistant U. S. district attorney.

Federal agents today were attempting to trace securities and to determine the connection Charles W. French, alleged head of a $50,000,000 "swindling trust," and John W. Worthington, indicted in connection with numerous mail robberies, had in their manipulation. The search yesterday extended to the vaults of a safety deposit vault company in the Masonic Temple building. A safety deposit box held by "John Whitehouse" was opened but was found empty. The name was thought to have been one assumed by Worthington.

"Newark Mayor Paid Money By Gamblers"

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—The hearing of Mayor Herbert S. Atherton, of Newark, who is under a 30 day suspension by Governor Davis on charges filed by the Licking County Law Enforcement League, alleging that he accepted bribes for permitting the operation of gambling houses, will be continued here today.

At yesterday's session, Eugene Schlegel, self-admitted gambler, testified that he had paid the mayor money for many months for immunity from police interference. Lee S. Pemberton, former safety director of Newark, testified that he and the mayor divided the money and that whiskey taken in prohibition raids was divided among officials. Pemberton involved Chief of Police Sheridan in his tale of collecting money from gamblers.

The former safety director characterized Atherton's order to close all gambling houses and to stamp out vice as mere "camouflage."

Issues In Mine War

BY NORRIS QUINN
B LUEFIELD, W. VA., August 31.—The spectacular march of armed coal miners from Marmet, Kanawha county, to the border of Logan county, was partially checked only to break out again.

But the bitter war between coal miners and operators in this region will never end until three issues have been cleared up. They are:

ONE—Alleged dismissal of Mingo county miners because they joined the United Mine Workers of America.

TWO—Eviction of dismissed miners from company houses.

THREE—Alleged employment by operators of "strong arm" men, holding deputies' commissions, but paid and directed by operators.

Started Last Year
Union organizers entered Mingo county early in 1920. They organized a number of miners. As soon as miners joined the union they were dismissed from the mines, the miners say. The operators deny this. They say they dismissed only a few agitators.

Dismissed men were expected immediately to vacate company houses. But they did not. Some said they had leases. The operators denied it.

The operators secured eviction papers. When Mingo county authorities refused to serve them or were slow about serving them, the operators called on the Baldwin-Felts detectives to carry out the evictions.

Miners maintain this was a flagrant violation of all law and constitutional right. Operators say it was perfectly legal.

Battle of Matewan
On May 19 a group of Baldwin-Felts operatives evicted seven families at Matewan, Mingo county. Operators say all families had 10 days' notice to vacate and an additional three days' grace.

Miners say the families had no notice whatever and that they were pushed roughly into the street by a group of armed men. Some of them, the miners say, did not have time to remove their household goods.

As the Baldwin-Felts operatives were leaving Matewan, a shooting affair started between them and a group of villagers and miners. Both sides differ on who fired the first shot.

When the smoke cleared, seven Baldwin-Felts men and four of the opposing faction were dead. The dead included two brothers of T. L. Felt, head of the Baldwin-Felts Detectives, and Mayor C. C. Testerman, of Matewan. Sid Hatfield, Matewan chief of police, since slain, was involved in the shooting.

General Outbreak
The evictions and resultant killings were signals for a general outbreak of disorder in Mingo county. Operators declared miners concealed themselves in the mountains and fired on mines. Miners say they were beaten and shot by deputies said to be in the employ of operators. One miner was blown to bits with a stick of dynamite.

In July, 1920, the United Mine (Continued on Page Six)

Favors Use Of Alien Property To Settle Claims Against Germany

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 31.—Recommendations that funds now in possession of the alien property custodian be used in the settlement of American claims against Germany was made to President Harding today by Custodian Miller.

Most of the American claims, Mr. Miller explained, resulted from the sinking of the Lusitania and other ships prior to America's entry into the war. Boiled down these now on file with the state department amounted to more than $400,000,000, Mr. Miller said. The property held by the custodian was estimated in value at $115,000,000.

There was no intimation as to whether the president had given his approval.

The American Venus

MISS MARIE LANDSON

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 31.—Here a new Venus.

She has the distinction of not being a movie actress, a dancer or an artist model.

She is just a beautiful girl with a figure which Edward Broulard, famous New York artist, says is as perfect as that of the mythical Venus. She is Miss Marie Landson of Cambridge.

Broulard is a graduate of the L'Ecole Nationale des Beaux Arts, of Marseilles, France. He has taken Miss Landson's measurements, and, after consulting with other French artists, requested her to come to New York in the fall to pose as "The American Venus."

Miss Landson says there are some parental objections to her posing as Venus.

It is not her ambition to become an artist model, but she would like to be "done in marble" as "The American Venus."

"Mr. Broulard took my measurements," Miss Landson says, "when I was sent to him by a friend some time ago. He expressed amazement."

He says I am perfect because my height is ten times the length of my hand, and seven and a half times the length of my foot. The distance from my elbow to the tip of the middle finger is the same as from the elbow of the middle line of the breast. From the top of my head to the level of my chin is the same as from the level of my chin to my arm pits."

Girls, how do your proportions compare with these?

AMERICAN OIL COMPANY WINS IN MEXICAN COURT

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 31.—Officials of the Mexican department of commerce and industry have been enjoined by the supreme court from denouncing rights to oil lands held by the Texas company prior to May 1, 1917. This decision, handed down last night by a unanimous vote of the court, probably sets a precedent for the court's action in dealing with nearly 100 cases calling into question the effect of Article 27 of the Mexican constitution.

If the other oil companies which have brought similar actions are victorious, it is generally believed that the decisions will constitute the court's definition of Article 27, and its interpretation of that article as being non-retroactive in its effects, and that claims to oil lands held before May 1, 1917, can not be questioned.

An appeal for an injunction in a case similar to that brought by the Texas company was taken up by the court today, the Mexican Gulf Oil Company being the plaintiff in the action.

Heads of American oil companies, who are conferring with government officials here, declined last night to comment on the decision, and they were silent as to their conference yesterday with President Obregon and Adolfo de la Huerta, secretary of the treasury.

On Hunt for Million In Sunken Treasure

NEW YORK, August 31.—Bound on a quest for more than a million dollars in sunken treasure, the steam trawler Rippie was plowing south today, headed for Cape Charles, Va., and the submerged wreck of the C. H. Ward line steamer Merida.

The little trawler's decks were littered with equipment for the salvaging operations when she sailed from here late yesterday and her crew included Frank Criley, one of the best known of deep sea divers, and two assistants, George W. Norstrom, chief officer of the Merida when she went down, also was aboard to aid in locating the wreck.

The Merida was sunk in about 35 fathoms of water on May 12, 1911, in a collision with the S. S. Admiral Farragut. Her cargo included gold and silver bullion valued at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

The Rippie's salvaging expedition is the second undertaking. The first effort was made in 1916, and was reported to have been financed by James A. Stillman, banker, and Percy Rockefeller.

New Treaty Does Not Permit U. S. To Join League Without Consent Of American Senate

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Secretary Hughes is of the opinion that the new treaty with Germany doesn't permit the United States to join the league of nations except by a treaty to which the Senate has given its constitutional consent. He didn't intend the language of the new pact to be interpreted in any other way and had no desire to use phrases which could in any way give rise to what he considered an absurd viewpoint—namely the joining of the league without the consent of the Senate.

But there is a divergence of opinion on this subject. And the interesting thing now is to see whether the allies consider the action of the Harding administration as absolutely final or whether they believe the door is still open for a future administration to take the vacant chair in the council of the league.

Divergence Of Opinion

Armed Invaders Are Driven Back

LOGAN, W. VA., August 31.—With the casualties placed at a deputy sheriff and an unidentified man killed, and a deputy sheriff captured, in the skirmishing along the Logan-Boone county line today, Sheriff Don Chaffin of Logan county, and Sheriff Bill Hatfield, of McDowell county, reported that armed bands were advancing westward over Spruce Fork ridge. The invaders were within four miles of the Logan outposts and within six miles of Peck's Mill, where field headquarters have been established by the state forces, the officers said. Surgeons and nurses have been sent to Peck's Mill.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 31.—Reports reaching the office of Governor Morgan this afternoon indicated that firing along the Boone-Logan line, held by state police and deputies against bands of armed men, had become quite general. Following the killing of Deputy John Gore, on Blair mountain this morning, the governor was informed at 1:30 p. m. that a miner had been killed and a deputy sheriff captured in a brush at Crooked Creek.

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., August 31.—The provisional military company, organized here yesterday for service in Logan county, was this afternoon called for duty by Governor Morgan. The company, made up almost entirely of ex-service men, will be ready to start for Logan as soon as the details of transportation can be arranged.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 31.—State forces and an armed band came together in the mountains near Blair, Logan county, this morning, according to dispatches received at the office of Governor Morgan. Beyond the statement that there had been firing from both sides, the governor's office announced, there were no details.

LOGAN, W. VA., August 31.—John Gore, a Logan county deputy sheriff, was killed in a fight between a border patrol and an armed band on Blair mountain this morning. This is the first casualty since state police, deputy sheriffs and volunteers from southern West Virginia gathered here to resist the forces which for days have been assembling on the east side of Spruce Fork ridge, believed to be bent upon an invasion of Logan county.

Airplanes Distribute Documents

LOGAN, W. VA., August 31.—Airplanes today distributed copies of President Harding's proclamation throughout this district. Thousands were printed here last night. Friend and foe alike received the pamphlets containing the President's command that all persons engaged in "insurrectionary proceedings" disperse and return to their homes at, or before noon Thursday, September 1.

Flying eastward, the planes crossed Boone and parts of Kanawha counties, dropping the circulars.

Attackers Driven Back
West Virginia. Many of them were rugged mountaineers who said they had heard they were needed in Logan and left no time in getting here.

Immediately upon their arrival they were given a warm meal and as quickly as possible sent into the mountains to join units already organized.

Military Men Volunteer
An event was the arrival of Captain L. E. Lawson, of Williamson, who led a company of Mingo men across the mountains. They had been discharged from the emergency militia service of that county last Sunday and immediately volunteered for duty in Logan.

The "second line of defense" has been organized by the women who under competent leaders are preparing meals for the arriving volunteers and the reserve forces held at the county seat. Many of them worked throughout the night and were relieved at dawn by a corps who promised to stick to the sandwiches and coffee pots.

Armed Men Commandeer C. & O. Train
CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 31.—Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad officials today verified a report received at Governor E. F. Morgan's office last night that armed men late yesterday commandeered the regular Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train running over the branch line from St. Albans, 15 miles southwest of Charleston, to Clifton, Boone county, near the Logan line. The men, according to railroad officials, first ran the train up the Fond Fork branch and brought back an armed band. It next was taken to Danville, where another body of men boarded and proceeded to Clifton.

during the day.

Prisoners Not Molested
MADISON, W. VA., August 31.—Magistrate Mitchell and the three deputy sheriffs who were captured by an armed band after a brush with state police on the slope of Spruce Fork ridge Sunday morning are "all right," said Sheriff Hill here today.

Sheriff Hill, who went to Jeffery, Maudslow county, yesterday morning to effect the release of the men, returned here late last night with out them. He said he had not seen them, but he was convinced they were in no immediate danger.

Everybody's Got a Gun
Jeffery is the center around which hundreds of armed men have been concentrating since last Sunday for what is popularly believed to be an advance into Logan county. Sheriff Hill said he was unable to estimate the number of the force, but that everybody seemed to be "jolly and happy."

When asked if all the men were armed the sheriff replied: "Every one of 'em who hasn't got two guns has gone one."

TOLEDO, O., August 31.—Rev. C. E. Lapp, of Greenville, Ohio, who was stricken with apoplexy while delivering a sermon at the Ashland Avenue Baptist church here on August 16, died at a local hospital late yesterday.

Rev. Lapp was filling the pulpit of the Toledo church during the vacation of Rev. Harry Vincent Walker, resident pastor. Rev. Mr. Lapp was 50 years old. He was born in New York and had served as pastor of various churches throughout the country. He held his last pastorate at Cincinnati in 1915. For the last six years he has lived in retirement at Greenville.

Farmers' Day At State Fair

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—Farmers from all over the state are here today, this being Farmers' and Home Bureau day at the Ohio state fair. United States Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota will deliver the principal address of the day, explaining the agricultural bloc in congress and the efforts of congress to pass legislation helpful to the farmer.

The emergency board, which controls appropriation funds between legislative sessions, was at the fair yesterday and saw the crowded conditions and handicaps of the limited space at the grounds. The members admitted that conditions were bad and expansion was needed if the Ohio state fair was to keep pace with the advancement of the Ohio farmer and with other similar agricultural expositions.

Today's program will be featured by the dog show. It is estimated that there are $100,000 worth of the animals on the grounds.

The daughter died early Sunday from acute appendicitis and shock which followed the announcement that her mother had only a short time to live. The mother was not told of her daughter's death.

Stricken With Paralysis John Granden Of Black Fork Dies Before Moved Home

John Granden, clay miner of Black Fork, stricken with paralysis while working in one of the Portsmouth Refractories Company's mines at Firebrick Tuesday afternoon about three o'clock, died before he could be removed to his home.

He was working as usual with several other miners when all of a sudden he fell to the ground. He was removed to the open and Dr. E. J. Jones of Oak Hill was called. He found that the man had suffered a stroke of paralysis on his left side.

The men reburied at the brickyard until about 5:45 o'clock when a start was made for his home at Black Fork. Just as he was being placed in an automobile he died.

Granden was about 70 years of age. He had been employed at the Portsmouth Refractories plant about five years and was considered one of their best workers. The deceased is survived by his wife and several children.

WITH THE RACQUET WIELDERS

Matches in the men's doubles tennis tournament Tuesday evening resulted in another team being eliminated from the race. With the completion of postponed games, which are supposed to be played this evening so the third round will be completed, several other teams are expected to drop by the wayside. Two matches were played last night, one was lost by default and one was postponed.

Breece and Williams postponed their match with Glickner and Glickner.

Harry Doerr and Sherrard Johnson lost by default when they failed to show up to play Leslie Severinghaus and Wesley Griver on the Franklin avenue court.

On the Rose Ridge court George Staten and Richard Hopkins won two straight sets from Prof. Frank Appel and Burdette, by scores of 6-0 and 6-0. This defeat eliminates Appel and Burdette.

Carl Doerr and Ernest Schusky lost in two straight sets to Clifford and Charles Taylor by scores of 6-3 and 6-2.

The games postponed in the men's tournament are Vandervort and Masado vs. Clausen and McNamara; Wallace Drow and Rea Selby vs. J. E. Butler and W. Staten; Geller and Meade vs. Albert Saunders and William Pursell; James Breece and Tom Williams vs. Glickner and Glickner; N. B. Griffin and P. Williams vs. Hyland and Bell.

Glickner and Glickner have played off their postponed match with Geller and Meade and lost to that team. Geller and Meade had one set on their opponents and came back and took the second 6-3. Glickner and Glickner have won and lost one. Geller and Meade have won one and lost one.

In the women's tournament last night the main contest was staged on York Park court, where two of the best sets of the tourney were played. Madlyn Glickner and Charlotte Scheffler, the York park team, were not considered as giving the Millbrook Club team No. 1, Mrs. Chas. Donaldson and Mrs. Lewis Adams, a very tight match, but the York park team brought forth a big surprise in their playing and won in two straight sets by scores of 11-9 and 8-6. Mrs. Adams had to retire from the match after the first set of 20 games and her place was taken by Mrs. Judith Lowry. Packers of the Millbrook club were counting on an easy victory for their team.

Two other matches were played by the women yesterday.

At the Golf Club Miss Edna Marling and Miss Gertrude Davidson won from Katherine Flood and Charlotte Hicks by scores of 6-0 and 6-1.

On Trinity court last evening Charlotte Hicks and Louise King lost to Evelyn Campbell and Katherine Ridenour by scores of 10-8 and 6-1.

When you come right down to reason, what is there to "discount" tires —

THE next time a friend comes to you all excited about some wonderful tire bargain—ask him how much value he ought to get for each dollar of tire money.

It's astonishing that any car owner today should not know all the tire service he is entitled to.

Nor how to check up between the economy of par quality on one hand—and big discounts, surplus stocks, discontinued lines and retreads on the other.

For two years U. S. Tire makers have been telling the American people all about tires.

They have laid open the tire business from every angle.

They have always led the fight for better tires.

They have consist-

A BUSY PLACE

(Ironton News)
The Excelsior Shoe Co. building on north Second street is one of the busiest spots in Ironton just at present. The cigar box factory on the second floor of the building is running at full capacity, and the cigar factory on the third floor is giving employment to many people, while the Selby Shoe Co. on the fourth floor are increasing their output daily and giving many girls employment.

Story Told By This Merchant Is Remarkable

Writing from Maxey's Gap, A. J. Clifton, proprietor of a large department store at that place, says:

"I have a customer here who was in bed for three years and did not go to a meal at any time. She had five physicians and they gave her out. One bottle of Tanlac got her up, on the second bottle she commenced keeping house and on the third she did all the cooking and housework for a family of eight."

This sounds really incredible, but it comes unsolicited from a highly creditable source and is copied verbatim from the letter.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Heads Of Pythian Home Re-

The Springfield, O., News yesterday of interest to local Pythians said: "Mr. and Mrs. R. M. LeFevre, superintendent and matron of the Ohio Pythian Children's Home, have tendered their resignations to the board of trustees. It became known yesterday. While these resignations were presented to the board at the December meeting, yet the board at its recent meeting refused to accept them, but indicated that it would act favorably upon them sometime next summer, at the urgent request of both Mr. and Mrs. LeFevre. In the near future an assistant superintendent and matron will be appointed to help with the work of caring for the residents of the home and she will co-operate with Superintendent and Mrs. LeFevre."

Mr. and Mrs. LeFevre plan to leave for an extended trip to California, the early part of the summer of 1934. During their absence the assistant matron will have complete charge. Upon the return of Mr. and Mrs. LeFevre, it is expected that the resignations will become effective. They have been the heads of the Pythian home now for twenty-six years.

In speaking of the matter, Mr. LeFevre said that he felt that they had been in service long enough and deserved a complete rest. Mr. LeFevre said that their plans for the future are indefinite. It will be with regret that the local Pythians and residents of the home will learn of this contemplated step on the part of "Pop" and "Mom" LeFevre as they are affectionately called.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Columbus, O.—Dear Dolly—I am a young fellow nineteen years old and have been going with a girl of seventeen. I went to camp for two weeks and on my return home found that she had had dates with another fellow. When I left she voluntarily promised not to go with anyone while I was away. Even then I told her that if she changed her mind about it and wanted to go with other fellows while I was gone to let me know and it would be alright with me. But instead of this, her letters said she was staying home and not even thinking of other fellows. Then I came back and found she had been untrue. We were engaged. What shall I do? She says she is sorry and says she doesn't think I should care. Do you think she could be trusted again? Do you think she would make a good wife? I saw your paper at camp through some of the Portsmouth boys. They were Battery "B" and were right across the street from us.

SPEED-WAY.
Battery R.
I am glad she wasn't true to you. A young man of 19 and a girl of 17 are entirely too young to become engaged. Just think of the years ahead of you, and what you will have to give up if you expect to settle down to married life before you have reached the age of manhood. Ask some of your guarded friends what they think about it, and I am sure that they will tell you to wait at least five years before you decide to get married. If you happen to ask the right one, he will tell you that he wished he was still waiting. However, if you are sure you love the girl, and can't see anyone else, it would be all right to keep her as a friend until you are old enough to secure a license to marry. I wouldn't let the fact that she had a date or two during my absence make any difference to me. I suppose you would have had dates, too, if there had been any good-looking girls available while you were in camp.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me what it costs for a pupil living in the country to go to the Portsmouth High School. Also does one have to pay by the month? Please answer at once.

A READER.
It costs $7.50 per month to attend the High School. The tuition is payable every month.

Arlon, Ohio—Dear Dolly—Please tell me what day of the week August 23, 1914, came on.

A READER.
August 23, 1914, fell on Sunday.

Dear Dolly—I would like very much for you to answer the following for me: About two months ago I was with a fellow and he asked to see a ring I had and he took it off of my finger, and I never could get it back. I have seen him several times since, but he always says he left my ring.

WANT-TO-KNOW.
The tonsils are the seat of many disturbances. If they are diseased the physical condition would be much improved by their removal. Would advise you to consult a physician and be governed by his advice.

MISS WISE.—Please publish a receipt for canned corn and tomatoes together, and what kind of cans, tin or glass.

A READER.
Peel and cut tomatoes and cook until nearly done, then add the corn and cook about ten minutes longer. Can in sterilized glass jars.

Dear Dolly—I am 22 and pretty. I also wear pretty clothes, but I don't seem to attract men. I suppose I am doomed to be an old maid. What can I do to make myself interesting and talkative?

SAD HEART.
Do not be conceited about your looks. People are very charitable about their own appearance, and very often they credit themselves with attractiveness which is not noticeable to others. It's too bad we can't see ourselves as others see us. To be interesting, a person must be interested. Busy yourself until you become really absorbed in the thing you are doing. A busy person who is well-read is usually very interesting.

Revolt Against Tradition And Authority Has Sprung Up In Many Spheres

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 31.—Revolt against tradition and authority has sprung up not only against the political state, but in music, art, poetry and commerce, until the age has become "preeminently one of sham and counterfeit." James Beck, solicitor general of the United States, declared before the American Bar Association today.

Mr. Beck spoke on "The Spirit of Lawlessness" before the opening general session of the annual convention, in the place of William A. Blount, the association president.

"The statistics of our criminal courts in recent years show an unprecedented growth in crime," Mr. Beck said. "But this revolt against authority is not confined to the political state. In music, its fundamental canons have been thrown aside and discord has replaced harmony. Its culmination—jazz—is a musical crime. In commerce, the revolt is one against equity of standards and the integrity of business morals. Who can question that this is preeminently the age of sham and counterfeit?"

"A spirit of lawlessness has always existed," Mr. Beck said, but he cited the prevalence of burglaries, hold-ups, thefts, murder and graft to show recent growth of lawlessness.

"Two of the oldest empires in the world—China and Russia—are in a welter of anarchy," the solicitor general said. "And in even the most stable governments, the underground rumblings of revolution may be heard. But of still greater significance to the welfare of civilization is the complete subversion during the world war of nearly all the international laws which have been built up. This fierce war of extermination has put us back temporarily, but we have a thousand years' victors and vanquished are involved in a common ruin."

"The morale of our industrial civilization has been shattered. Work for work's sake, as the most glorious privilege of human faculties, has gone. The whole history of the mechanical era is a persistent struggle for more pay and shorter hours and today it has culminated in world wide ruin. In my judgment, the economic catastrophe of 1921 is far greater than the politico-military catastrophe of 1914."

"Accompanying the indigestion to work," the solicitor general continued, has been a "mad desire for pleasure such as has not been seen within the memory of living man."

Issue In Mine War

Workers of America called all men in Mingo county out on strike. The operators say only to percent of the men were unionized. The miners say a majority were.

Any way, most Mingo county miners struck, either because they were union members, as the miners say, or because they feared violence if they stayed at work, as the operators maintain.

Disorder, resulting from the elections and the strike, became so acute early this year that the governor proclaimed martial law in Mingo county. The region still is under martial law. The strike still is officially on, though many men have returned to work. Strikers are housed in tent colonies maintained by the United Mine Workers of America.

Mingo miners had nothing to do with the "murder of 5000." The marchers were members of Kanawha county in the Charleston region, a union stronghold for more than 20 years.

The march was a sympathetic demonstration as are the continued sendings and disorders.

Huge Dirigible Destroyed By Flames

NEW YORK, August 31.—Dirigible balloon 1-4, the largest American naval aircraft of its type, and the kite balloon AP were destroyed by a fire which also razed the barge today at the Rockaway Point naval air station. An explosion of gasoline from an unknown cause started the blaze. Although a number of men were in the barge, only one man was slightly burned.

Great tanks containing thousands of cubic feet of hydrogen were located near the barge and the flames played tons of water upon them to prevent possible explosions.

The 1-4 was 115 feet long, carried a crew of four and had a speed of sixty miles an hour. She was used to patrol the coast.

There Is No Use Talking--- There's Nothing Like A Hoover

There are dozens of so called electric cleaners on the market and scarcely a day goes by but what some solicitor or agent raps at your door and wants to demonstrate the very newest "Hocus-Pocus" vacuum sweeper, the finest in the world, and so on. And somebody usually buys, and then before many months go by they approach us wanting to know how much we will allow them on their so-called cleaner in trade for a Hoover. The facts of the matter are that we wouldn't trade a Hoover for a whole pack of all the other kinds on the market and neither will you after you have used a Hoover a while.

It isn't economy to buy an electric sweeper in preference to the Hoover just because it is a few dollars cheaper. You'll find those few dollars you save are the costliest dollars you ever had.

DON'T BUY ANY SWEEPER BUT THE HOOVER

We are the only authorized agents in Portsmouth for the Hoover and this week we have two expert Hoover men here from the factory and they will be glad to bring a Hoover to your home and show you what value it will be to you. Demonstrations free, of course.

There are hundreds of Hoover users right here in Portsmouth and we can furnish you with names of people you know, who have used Hoovers for years and would not be without them.

Phone in for a special demonstration this week in your own home. Get ready for fall housecleaning.

What the Chandler Motor Means to You

It means much to you. It is the exclusive Chandler motor, found under the hood of no other car. It was designed by Chandler engineers eight years ago, and has been developed and refined by the same engineers through all these years.

Thousands of owners named it "the Marvelous Motor." And it is distinctly that. The Chandler motor is alive with power. It furnishes all the speed that any right-minded driver could ever want to use. It readily climbs in high any steep hill or long mountain ascent that any car can climb. It pulls, easily and smoothly, through deep sand or mud.

You can throttle it down to three miles an hour in congested traffic and step away like a flash from less lively cars. Its flexibility is not surpassed.

The Chandler motor never overheats, no matter how hot the day, how hard the pull or how fast the speed.

HEALTH THE KEYNOTE TO BEAUTY
Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, struggling with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful? The woman of today in this high-strung, nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that her peculiar to her sex develop which, unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills, and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.—Advertisement.

B—Special Added Features—Mack Bennett Presents a New Comedy, "Call a Cop."
C—Metro presents Ina Claire in "Tolly With a Past."

Ina Claire, the Belasco stage star, will be seen in pictures tomorrow at the Eastland Theatre in "Tolly With a Past," adapted by June Mathis from the theatrical success by George Middleton and Guy Bolton.

It was this play which brought Miss Claire, for nearly a year now engaged in enacting the principal role in "The Gold Diggers," at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, to stardom. The story has to do with a young girl, come from the country to study for the operative state, but forced by circumstances finally to be a housemaid. There the friends of Rex Van Zile, in an effort to interest that impressionable young man from another woman they detect, prevail upon Tolly Shuron to assume a part of an interestingly brilliant hue. And there properly—or perhaps improperly—the story really begins.

In support of Miss Claire are Ralph Graves, as Rex; Marie Wainwright, Harry Benham, Clifton Webb, Lonizita Valentine and Myra Brooks. The production, directed and supervised personally by Maxwell Karger, Metro director general, was photographed by Arthur Martinelli.

Yesterday's Features

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Two triple plays featured yesterday's major league games. Terry, of the Chicago Nationals, started one by catching a line drive batted by Nehf, of New York, and two Giant players were caught off of base, on relay to Hollender and Grimes. Five Boston National players participated in the other play which came with three Cincinnati men on base. One Red player scored as a ground ball was thrown to second and first for outs, and the final out was made when another Red was caught between third and home.
The New York Nationals won their eighth straight game, but did not gain in the pennant race as Pittsburgh also won. The New York Americans won, and shortened Cleveland's lead to one game. The St. Louis Nationals lost their game after winning eight straight. The St. Louis Americans went into third place ahead of Washington. All of the St. Louis Browns had one or more hits for a grand total of twenty.

Babe Ruth, the home run king, retired in the fifth inning after turning his ankle in rounding bases. A home run with the bases full went to the credit of Boeckel, of the Boston Nationals. Robertson, of Pittsburgh, made a homer, triple, double and single, while Siler, of the St. Louis Americans, batted a triple and four singles.

Ex-doughboys who knew Downey when he was an athletic instructor at Camp Sherman, were among the guests at the gymnasium where he is training. They gave him five out three sparing partners.
Both Wilson and Downey express confidence that down to the middle-weight title, raised by their recent meeting at Cleveland, will be settled quickly at Tex Rickard's Jersey City arena. Wilson predicts that the bout will not last more than six rounds. Downey says he is certain he will win, but is not so specific.

A DISADVANTAGED PEOPLE

WHILE as a nation we believe it a duty to give aid to backward peoples, giving a government to the Philippines and sending missionaries to all parts of the earth, we have disadvantaged peoples right at home. Among them are the inhabitants of the Blue Ridge and Cumberland ranges of mountains in Kentucky and Tennessee. The condition of these people, of the purest blood in America, has excited sympathy and much has been done to lift them out of their century-old environment, but much remains to be done.

President Hutchins of Berea College, an institution that has carried much light to the mountains, says there are 3,000,000 of these backward people of the slopes and in the valleys of the Southern Highlands. The ancestors of these people went into the mountains through poverty or exploration and the hills have held them ever since at about the same level. There are no roads worthy of the name, the soil is not capable of producing enough to give proper support to a family and markets cannot be reached. The result is poor people, poor schools, poor churches. However, many of the industries of other days survive there. Spinning and weaving are carried on generally and the thought and habits are those of the long ago. By many of deeply religious nature moonshine is thought to be an honorable occupation. The fact that moonshine brings $16 to $30 a quart and is the main means of commanding money doubtless contributes to the belief in its defensibility.

This situation is of concern not alone to the states that claim these people as citizens. It is a problem for the whole country. People who do not progress go backward. No doubt our bad exhibit as a nation in illiteracy is augmented by these people. They are of good stock but have succumbed to environment and it is among such that blood feuds exist, though possibly they do not prevail with the intensity of other days. An infection on one member is of influence on the whole body. It might be well for us to give a bit less attention to the backward peoples on the far side of the earth and take a little more interest in lifting out of ignorance and the seclusion of the hills some of our own people who need help to reach the average of American intelligence.

"CAVEAT EMPTOR"

SECRETARY of Commerce Hoover is said to be giving some attention to the offering of foreign municipal securities to investors in this country, with the view to obtaining evidence of violation of "blue sky" laws. He is quoted as saying that American investors should "exercise the utmost care in their selection of foreign securities." This advice applies to all kinds of investments, foreign and domestic, recent proof of which is being furnished by the investigation into the operations of a band of alleged swindlers, with headquarters in Chicago. The axiom, caveat emptor—"let the buyer beware"—should not be ignored in the purchase of securities as well as of real estate or commodities.

The only attraction of foreign municipal securities for the average American investor is the high rate of interest at which they are offered. Realization of this rate is dependent upon two factors, concerning which even adepts in international finance find it difficult to form a sound judgment. One is the market value of foreign exchange at the time payment is made of principal and interest, and the other is the ability of the European municipality to meet its obligations at maturity. This ability, in turn, is dependent upon political developments, which in the existing chaotic state of affairs abroad, cannot be safely forecast. It is probable, however, that nine-tenths of the ventures in foreign bonds, like the purchases of German marks and Russian rubles during and since the war, are of a purely speculative nature, instead of an investment undertaking.

Invariably the rate of yield on a stock or bond is a measure of the safety of principal of the investment. If the yield on market value runs as high as 10 per cent or more it signifies uncertainty concerning interest or principal, when the owner of a perfectly good stock or bond is compelled through necessity to sacrifice it to obtain ready cash. People who buy foreign securities on a basis to net a much higher return than that available in the market for American securities are taking a big chance, and knowing this it is not clear that they should become wards of the government in their financial undertakings.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, August 31.—Some labor for years to break into the movies—years of courage crushing disappointments. All it required, as simplicity, I broke into one without any trouble whatsoever and before my sudden debut was ended I had spoiled 43 feet of perfectly lovely film.

A film executive had invited me to see his pretty studio. He showed me his office—an imposing room with two leather walls, a great mahogany glass topped table, chairs into which one sank deep and even a private shower bath. "Now we will see the studio," he said, leading the way.

We walked up and down ramps, through a labyrinth of dark tunnels and in the excitement of the chase I lost him. Far off I saw a flock of light and I made for it. After several turns I suddenly rounded a corner and came into a blinding daze of electricity.

I walked on to get my bearings. Badlam had broken loose. Shouts of "Well of all the bonchards!" "How'd that fellow get in?" "Where's his keeper?"—and then some one who was no gentleman grabbed me by the arm and lifted me into the air, and I remember of having the dignity and pressure of mind to say: "Is that so?"

When my eyes became accustomed to the light I got a faint idea of what had happened. It was a tense moment in the film drama. In the great library the millionaire husband was confronting his wife with the facts about her liaison with a certain found De Vere. He stood granite-like as she clutched at him in the hysteria of the house of cards that tumbled down about her.

It was at that time that I was getting out of the dark tunnel and blindly walked right up into the midst of the exciting scene. The director who chewed gum and wore an Elbert Hubbard tie was inconsolable. All I could do was stand on one foot, then on the other and look a little sillier than normal. The weeping lady was a dear. "Never mind," she said, "I wanted to do that scene over again anyway." I would tell you what the camera man said—the rude thing.

The average organ grinder in New York is a model of patience. For many months one has drawn his hurdy hurdy up to the curb opposite my bedroom window on a certain day of each week. He grinds out his catch penny tunes and with his cap in hand scans the windows of neighboring buildings for a friendly face. Most of the time angry heads stick out and motion him away. And if they are too threatening he moves along—but he comes back invariably on his scheduled day.

The striped shirt with the awning effect so dear to the heart of the nifty New York dresser is no more. In its stead has come the geometric designs in colored shirting. They are quite dazzling. Linen and madras are used instead of silk. Only the out-of-date dresser wears silk shirts.

At last the Century Theatre—hoedon of playhouses—has a successful play. "The Last Waltz" has been there for several months and may run for several months more. The average Century play lasted two or three weeks heretofore. Charles Hanson Towne tells of a young woman disappearing from New York some years ago and every corner of the earth, seemingly, had been searched for her. Then some was suggested: "Has any one thought of looking in the gallery of the Century Theatre?"

Fifth Avenue limousines are filled with toddlers, top splinters. Rolls of bills may be seen too, but the police concentrate on the newsboys' crap games in the side streets for some reason or other.

A Lesson In Opportunity

Much foolishness is printed about "the American scale of living" and everybody's right to live on that scale. When investigated, this mythical "scale" is found to be invisible and impalpable—utterly lost in ten thousand constantly shifting schedules of family expenditures ranging from $300 to $30,000 a year.

The politicians on the stump were eloquent over meat every day in American homes, with chicken and ice cream on Sunday, and proudly proclaim that the American laborer is the best dressed and housed in the world, and we are all thankful and glad that he is. But no two families nor no group of 10,000 families live on the same scale. The only outstanding feature of American "living" in the mass is that they tend to extravagance and waste—in dress, food, display, music, amusements and costly indulgences. The $12 a week man wants to live as well as the one who earns $25. The $1,800 a year man wants to make the same showing as the $2,000 man. Thus the majority lose all sense of real values in life and neglect their one opportunity, which is saving.

These reflections are inspired by a news item from Chattanooga, Tenn., where five brothers who came from Greece some fifteen years ago are about to build a million dollar hotel. From what? Speculation in Wall Street? Oil? Coal? War profiteering? No. They are bootlickers, and their present wealth comes from their savings on "shines," augmented by investments in real estate. They have demonstrated what rewards may come from the humblest occupations in this land of opportunity when economy rules the life and a wasteful scale of living does not rule family expenditures.

The five Greeks have not limited their working days to eight hours, have not spent their evenings in seeking entertainment, have not indulged in silk shirts and automobiles, nor practiced vain displays while building their fortunes. We imagine an American young man saying: "I would not black boots for fifteen years and live as these Greeks did, for a million dollars." Is that really true? The Greeks had enough to eat, enough to wear, and good shelter all those years, and are sound and healthy today. Supposing they began their American careers at twenty. Now at the average age of 35 they are worth a million $200,000 each—in midlife. Is that not worth the price of hard work, self-denial, and in thrift, which they have paid?

Is it not worth fifteen years of rigid economy, hard work, close living, for a man to win enduring prosperity for himself and his family for the best years of his life? Every young business man, mechanic, or workman at whatever occupation may see a marker for his industry and thrift, if he will, in the achievements of these bootlickers, who were not lured into extravagance to maintain a scale or standard of living that would have kept them strapped. The Gregory Brothers, at the beginning strangers in a strange land, unable to speak English, are now but another evidence of the general frittering away of opportunity by American young men in order to gratify vanity, appetites and love of pleasure during the early years when the foundations of prosperity are laid for the great majority of those who win comfort and plenty for their families.

Atlantic City has gone crazy. A hotel there has dropped room rates from $3 to $2.50 a day—think of it! The name of the hotel is the Breakers. It made the break after the other hotels had refused to join with it in restoring prewar rates.

Young John Rockefeller is now said to be the richest man in the world, with holdings worth over $2,000,000. His father's credit with half a billion.

The benefactions of men of such prodigious wealth are mere penny-giving compared with the noble charities of many millionaires.

The water was so low to-day that a ferry boat operating from Point Pleasant, W. Va., was forced to cease operations. Several government dams in this section are out of commission for repairs.

Q. When was the first peace movement?—A. W. A.

A. While suggestions of a movement toward peace are to be found in classical literature and in writings of the early churchmen, the first effort toward world peace was initiated by the King of Bohemia in 1462. He advanced a plan for a federation of Christian nations, having an international parliament to discuss matters of common interest and a tribunal, backed by international military forces, to hear and decide all disputes between nations.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that the glossy jet black appearance of hard rubber can be restored by applying a small amount of glycerine and polishing with cloths.

The Circus
Everywhere I hear the music,
Of the grand parade,
And the drum, drum of the bands
On the esplanade.
With the boys are running, running,
With halloos in grand array,
Throwing pennants at the monkeys
As they march along the way.

Everywhere the crowd is marching,
Pushing forward in the street,
While the elephant so clumsy,
Hurries onward to retreat.
From the throngs that crowd the by-ways,
To the tents so full and free,
And the boys just keep on marching,
With the circus crowd to see.

"Your conscience will tell you dear."

Johnny Took The Bet
Johnny liked ice cream, but he drew the line at turning the freezer. One day when his mother returned home she was agreeably surprised to find him working away at the crank as though his life depended on it. "I don't see how you get him to turn the freezer," she said to her husband; "I offered him a dime to do it."

"You didn't go to it in the right way, my dear," replied the husband. "I bet him a nickel he couldn't turn it for half an hour."—The Argonaut (San Francisco).

Don't Like Oranges
The teacher was giving a lesson on fractions during which she asked Jane which she would rather have, one-half or one-third of an orange. Jane replied: "One-third." "But," insisted her teacher, "I have just explained that one-third is less than one-half."

"Yes," answered Jane, "I heard you but I don't like oranges."
